Refining the leading direction before we move into typography

Sunwashed Market is still the strongest overall, so this deck tightens that direction instead of starting over. The point here is to figure out what kind of warmth it should have when it gets more intentional.

“Before we move onto typography.”

That means the visual direction itself should get sharper first. These are three tighter Sunwashed Market variants, each still living in the same family but pulling the emotional balance a little differently.

WHAT STAYS FIXED

The family stays cream, mustard, teal, and walnut. The question is what leads: brightness, refinement, or depth.

WHAT I’M TESTING

How far Maison can move toward premium-home identity without losing clarity, friendliness, and daily usability.

VARIANT 01

Balanced Warm

This is the most stable version of Sunwashed Market. Mustard and teal share the work evenly, walnut stays supportive, and the whole thing feels approachable, clean, and quietly premium.

Morning Cream	Soft Butter	Warm Mustard	Kitchen Teal	Walnut
#F8F2E7	#F0E4CF	#D0A84A	#4D8C86	#4B392D

LANDING PAGE

Maison

How it works · Pricing · Sign in

A calmer way to run a home together.

The most balanced version. Useful, warm, and a little polished, but not precious.

Join the founding launch

See how it works

Feels like the best first-launch direction if Maison should be broadly likable and clearly differentiated.

Today at home

3 due soon

Saturday reset

Kitchen filters, patio sweep, grocery restock.

Water basil

Order air filters

Pick up lemons

Fresh
Still has lift.

Warm
Doesn't feel synthetic.

Usable
Easy to imagine in production.

DASHBOARD

Maison

This week · All rooms

Good evening, your home is in good shape.

This version feels controlled and welcoming without going soft.

DUE SOON
4
By Sunday

COMPLETED
12
This week

SHOPPING
9
Waiting

NEXT UP

Kitchen + pantry reset

Replace water filter, check produce, and wipe cabinet fronts before the week starts.

Replace fridge filter

Ready to swap.

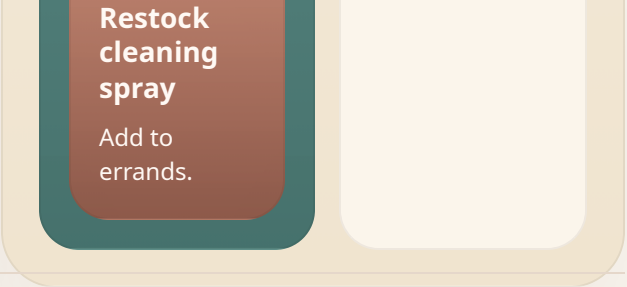
SHOPPING LIST

Market run

Paper towels

Dishwasher pods

Fresh herbs



Maison tighter round

Balanced Warm

VARIANT 02

Brighter Editorial

This version pushes the cream and teal a little more and softens the mustard. It feels airier and more editorial, with a cleaner magazine-like calm.

Porcelain Cream	Linen Glow	Quiet Mustard	Washed Teal	Warm Sand
#FBF6EE	#F4EAD8	#CDA04A	#5E928C	#CDBD9F

LANDING PAGE

Maison

Why Maison | Plans | Sign in

A beautiful home starts with less mental clutter.

This is the lightest and most editorial pass. It feels polished, airy, and slightly more design-forward.

See the launch offer

Explore the flow

Great if Maison should feel a touch more aesthetic and less operational.

Household view | Steady week

Sunday home check

Maintenance, pantry, and next week's reset.

Refill pantry staples

Vacuum stairs

Replace shower spray

Airier

Feels lighter.

Sharper

Risk

DASHBOARD

Maison

This month | Whole home

A tidy, low-stress week at home.

This is the cleanest version, and maybe the most elegant, but it sacrifices a little character.

SCHEDULED
7
Across the week

FINISHED
15
This month

RESTOCK
5
Low items

HOUSE CARE

Weekend upkeep plan

Bathroom reset, vacuum high-traffic rooms, and reorder two basics before Monday.

Replace sponge set

Auto-repeat ready.

SHOPPING

Essentials

Laundry pods

Olive oil

Toilet paper

More editorial calm.

Less grounded than A.

Freshen linens

Guest room and main bed.

Maison tighter round

Brighter Editorial

VARIANT 03

Richer Walnut

This version leans harder on walnut depth and uses mustard more sparingly. It feels more expensive, more intimate, and closer to the eventual typography direction.

Oat Light#F5EEE1	Toasted Linen #EADBC5	Mustard Accent #D0A84A	Utility Teal#4D8C86	Deep Walnut#4B392D

LANDING PAGE

Maison

The idea · Founding access · Sign in

A home feels calmer when it is remembered well.

This is the richest version. It feels most like a home brand and least like a startup product, but it needs stronger type to fully land.

Join Maison

View the approach

The closest bridge between the visual direction and the wordmark direction.

Home rhythm · Tonight

Evening reset
Kitchen close, candle restock, prep the house for tomorrow.

Wipe counters

Refill hand soap

Order coffee beans

Most character

Most depth
Feels richer.

Risk
Could get heavy if overused.

DASHBOARD

Maison

Tonight · Kitchen

A warmer, more characterful dashboard.

This is the strongest emotional identity, especially if the wordmark goes warm and sculpted.

PENDING
3
Tonight

HANDLED
10
This week

SHOPPING
6
Restocks

HOME RHYTHM

Kitchen close routine
Reset the sink, wipe the stove, and set tomorrow's breakfast basics so the morning feels easy.

Refill dish soap
Low after this week.

Swap hand towel

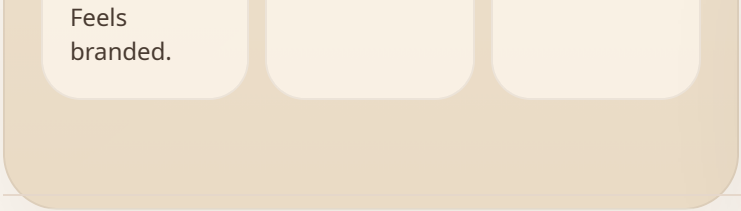
RESTOCK

Pantry + bath

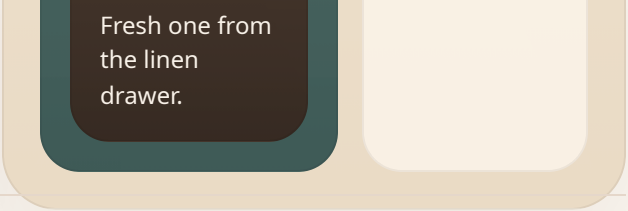
Coffee beans

Hand soap

Candle matches



Maison tighter round



Richer Walnut

RECOMMENDATION

What I would carry forward

BEST OVERALL NEXT STEP

Balanced Warm is the strongest path if we want Maison to feel distinctive, warm, and still easy to trust in product form. It is the safest path into a real brand system.

MOST ELEGANT

Brighter Editorial is the prettiest and lightest, but it loses a little of Maison's grounding.

MOST BRAND-RICH

Richer Walnut is the most emotionally interesting, and it may become the best long-term identity once the typography gets stronger.

MY RECOMMENDATION

I would keep Balanced Warm as the production-leading direction, while borrowing a little of the walnut depth from Richer Walnut when we move into typography and final brand polish.